Well, Hanky, how do you feel the morning after the night before? Feel as I do? wish it was the night before the morning after. We did a risk thing by leaving before the rest. They didn't reach home until 2 a.m. and they sure were a tired bunch this morning. Needless to say they found me under the hay stack fast asleep". Do you feel tired? Not I hanky — just

Has the Lieut. received any definite orders? Give my love to Rose — ask her about the gift for Sue's baby — and tell her if he has gone to come down during the week.

I have going to another wedding to-night.

Ida has just called me up to remind me of to-morrow night's appointment. I was dreadful, honey, that you were coming along too; Wednesday seems so far away. Call me up to-morrow night before 7.30, wire you precious mine, unless you think of calling up to-night. I want to talk to you, at least.
